AUSTIN CORBIN'S BIG TUNNEL SCHEME.

OFFICIALS OF THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

INTERESTED IN THE PROJECT. Philadelphia, Dec. 12 (Special),-A meeting of officials of the Pennsylvania and Long Island railroads was held here to-day to consider the building of a tunnel under the East and Hudson rivers at New-York, connecting the Long Island and Pennsylvania Railroad terminals in brooklyn and Jersey City, and both with New-York. There were prese at the meeting President Roberts, of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Frank Thomson, Wayne MacVeagh, A. J. Cassatt, Austin Corbin, and Charles M. Jacobs, the engineer who has charge of the preliminary The meeting was held behind closed doors, but it was afterward said that it was the unanimous sense of those present that a tunnel be constructed from the Flatbush ave, station of the Long Island Railroad in Brooklyn to Maiden Lane, York, under it and Cortlandt-st. to the North River, and thence to Jersey City and the Pennsylvania terminal. Two corporations have been formed one in New-York and one in New-Jersey. Their organization is at present only formal, but it is expected that they will consolidate, and as soon as expected that they will consolidate, and as soon as the necessary permission can be obtained, the corporations will begin work. Austin Corton, for the long time, has been at work on this plan, but it is only now that the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad mave definitely committed themselves to it.

President Roberts, of the Pennsylvania Italized Company, when asked about the conference this evening, said: "Mr. Corbin was here and held a conference with Pailadelphia parties in regard to the tannel project. The subject of the conference was the organization of the proposed tunnel company in New-Jersey and other states." When asked if the Pennsylvania Railroad Company would take an active interest in the project, Mr. Roberts replied: "The company has taken no corporate action as yet." Mr. Roberts said further that the matter was not in such a shape that anything more could be said about such a shape that anything more could be said about it at present.

PLANS CALL FOR WAY STATIONS-FROM BROOK-LYN TO JERSEY CITY IN TEN MINUTES.

The new tunnel project, unlike the ones heretofore exploited, which contemplated an underground com munication between Brooklyn and provides for a route of travel from the central part of Brooklyn under the East River to New-York, and then under that city and the Hudson River to Jersey City, making a direct line from the Long Island Railroad depot to the Pennsylvania Rallroad depot. The starting point in Brooklyr is at Atlantic-ave. and Fort Greene Place, near the present depot of the Long Island Railroad. The line of the tunnel will be under streets as far as possible, a public franchise being secured, instead of under private property which would have to be purchased. The lines of Flatbush-ave, and Fulton-st, will be folfar as Clark st. Then the tunnel will extend under that street and under private property to Pincapple st., to get as straight a line as possible to the river, which will be reached under Furman-st., where Pincapple st. would reach it if extended The route laid out extends under Maiden Lane and Cortland'st., in New-York, and then under Hudson River to Jersey City, where the terminal will be near the Pennsylvania depot. It is proposed | Makertonism, and Trickery." to have several stations in both Brooklyn and New York, connecting with the surface by passenger elevators. The probable points for these in Brooklyn are at Fulton-st. and De Kalb-ave., the City Hall and Charles and Fulton sis., and in New-York at South-st., Broadway and West-st.

The tunnel will be a little less than four miles long and will be twenty-nine feet high and twenty-one feet these striking brethr wide. It will be lighted by electric lights and trains will be run by electricity. For a portion of the route under the Hudson River an iron tube, or two tubes will have to be used, according to Charles M. Jacobs, the engineer, who has made the preliminary borings.

An officer of the Long Island Railroad is quoted saying that work will begin at once, and Brooklyn will be the scene of the first operations. As soon as the requisite consent of the authorities is secured, the excavations will begin near the Long Island depot at Platbush and Atlantic-aves. It is proposed to bring Brooklynites within six minutes of New-York and ten minutes of Jersey City from that point. Elevators will carry passengers to and from the underground stations, and the passage through the tunnel will be made quick and pleasant. The tunnel would greatly relieve the congestion of bridge travel, and besides would give Brooklyn people direct connection with he railroads of the conference.

"The light and ventilation of the tunnel are of prime importance," said this officer, "and we will pro-vide both on the most improved scientific principles. The lighting of the tunnel, cars and elevators will be by electricity. The ventilation will be provided by scientific methods. The business of tunnelling is simple

This is substantially the line agreed upon. It may be varied later in some respects, but the intention is to construct the line from Flatbush ave, to the Pennsylvania Railroad by the best and most practiculie route. The leading men in the Fennsylvania Railroad and in the Long Island Railroad are the promoters of it. The corporations as corporations have not as yet taken any corporate action in regard to it. The tunnel is to be bait for two purposes; first, for the handing of passengers between Brooking and New-York, and Jersey City and New-York, in substantially the same manner as passengers are now carried over the Brooklyn Bridge; second, to give a short route for the citizens of Brooklyn and Long Island to and from a connection with the Pennsylvania Railroad at Jersey City. The character of the material to be taken out of the tunnel between Brooklyn to Corthardtest, on the North River, is substantially ascertained, and it is intended to construct a double track over that route at an early date. Across the North River a pilot tunnel perhaps six or eight feet in diameter, will be built in order to test the ground before that section of the true tunnel will be undertaken, but no serious obstacle is believed to stand in the way of an extension across that river of the same class of tunnel as is to be constructed between Brooklyn and New-York. This is substantially the line agreed upon. It may

That has not been altogether abandoned, but it is not intended to construct that tunnel for the present. Some of the men interested in that organization are also interested in this, and I have no reason to believe that the new route, with the alliance of the Pennsylvania people, will not be quite as acceptable to them as the former line, but I am not authorized to use their names in connection with this new line without further consultation with them. General Newton, Mr. Brice and Mr. Lauterbach, who were in the former organization, are not in the present one, but of course will have an opportunity to join this one as well. If, upon consultation, they approve it and are inclined to join. General Tracy and General Porter are in the present plan."

WORKINGMEN IN SESSION.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN FED-ERATION OF LABOR.

RESOLUTIONS REGARDING THE WORLD'S PAIR GATALOGUE - REPORTS OF THE

OFFICERS READ Philadelphia, Dec. 12.-President Samuel Gomperopened the twelfth annual session of the American Federation of Labor in Independence Hall this morning. An address of welcome in behalf of the United Labor League, of this city, was delivered by George Chance, of Typographical Union No. 2, in which he said: "Measured by the wealth that has gathered Pennsylvania is great, prosperous and powerful. trasted with the condition of the producers of that wealth, the State is poor indeed. I have no hesitancy in saying that the laws of the nation and the State are partly responsible for this condition of affairs Trusts have been legalized and fostered, while soulless corporations and gigantic plants are the especial wards of the State; laws passed for the benefit of the masses are declared unconstitutional or decisions given that render their provisions nugatory.* It is said the blood of the martyrs was the seed of the church. It is possible that through the blood of the men who died on the banks of the Monongahela last July may come the realization of the true condition of affairs and that the legislation of the future will be in favor of the masses rather than for the aggrandizement of the few." President Compers replied belefty for the Federation thanking the laboring men of Philadelphia for their welcome and for the admonstions that had been given. "It is lamentable," he declared, "that judges should stoop so low to arrive at such despicable ends as has been witnessed recently in Pennsylvania." He as cribed these wrongs to two causes. The comparative lack of organization among the laboring men of the state, and the devotion of wageworkers to partisan ship first and to their class interests next.

The most striking figure in the hall was ex-President Weihe, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers. W. A. Carney, his successor, also came in for a share of attention, as did all the me who were engaged in the Homestead fight, who oc cupled sents together close to the president's desk. A portion of Thursday's session will be devoted to the consideration of that great conflict, and means will be devised for the relief of the men who have been thrown out of work by the strike.

At the afternoon session the delegates were enter tained for half an hour by John Swinton, the New York journalist, in a savage attack on "Blacklegging Mr. Swinton declare: he was not discouraged by the abandonment of strike at Homestead, Buffalo, Cener d'Alene, New-Orlea and other places in the last year. These efforts, h asserted, had been the effect of checking aggression "The labor of the country," h continued, " has been paid millions of dollars this year which it would surely have lost without the help o these striking brethren. Every man disabled in wars of labor should be remembered and honored for his services as he who draws his daily dole from his duty in the camp."

The Committee on Credentials reported eighty-one delegates entitled to admission.

Resolutions were introduced at the request of Typo graphical Union No. 16, of Chicago, denounci proposed awarding of the contract for the World's Fair atalogue to a non-union publishing house, and d manding that the work be given to a union concern It was stated that the printers of Chicago had sub-scribed $100,000 toward the Fair, under the beliethat it would be of great benefit to labor. Several speakers urged the proposition.

The Chicago men made a determined effort to get the resolutions through the convention immediately. There was delay and reference to a committee, however. The committee reported favorably on the resolution with some modification, expressing friendship for the Fair. An amendment was offered substituting a request that the work be given to a "fair" shop, instead of using the words union shop. Although favored by the committee and typographical delegates this amendment was defeated. The resolutions were then passed.

Of course the bishops have had as yet no cause for complaint over the settlement of a case by Monsignor Satolii; but his views of the school question have shown them the kind of a man he is. He would look at things in a broad light, and that the priests say is just what the bishops are opposed to. As a consequence they decided to begin hostilities at once, and so they refused to accept his plans for the settlement of the school question. They said his plans, if adopted, would eventually end in deing away with parochial schools, and appealed to Rome to know whether the Pope's views were the same as Monsignor Satolii's. No. When he sent Monsigner satelli here No. When he sent Monsigner satelli here he sent him to stay. He did the right thing when he sent a Papal delegate here. It was due to the efforts of Archbishop Ireland that Monsignor Satolii was sent here. Archbishop Ireland is too much of an American to suit most of our bishops and archbishops. Why, Monsignor Satolli and the Pope are more American in their views than many of them. Monsignor satelll is too broadminded and too much like Arch. hishop freland to suit our bishops. However, he will remain here for these reasons: Archbishop Ireland remain here for these reasons: Archaeshop reclaims proved to the Pope that it would be well to send him here; his views are the same as those of the Pope; the Propaganda has approved his plans for the settlement of the school question; Monstgner O'Connell has great influence at Rome, and he will leave on Saturary to head off the archbishops' opposition, and because when the American archbishops are so anxious for power Rome will endeavor to prevent them from becoming too powerful."
